

TORRE A CONA

Ever since ancient times, the terroir of Torre a Cona has embraced the city of Florence, inspiring a noble and agricultural vocation.

The family and I fell in love with this breathtaking landscape. We perpetuate the bond with this extraordinary territory through the production of our wines. When exploring the estate, you discover a rare microclimate that offers exceptional biodiversity, allowing us to produce a unique expression of the Chianti Colli Fiorentini.

Niccolò Rossi di Montelera

- The Estate -

At Torre a Cona, viticulture is deeply rooted in ancient times, reflecting the estate's long-standing bond with the agricultural traditions of the territory. The intervention of the Rossi di Montelera family has rediscovered and enhanced this historic vocation, breathing new life into the vineyards and, over recent decades, pursuing a project focused on quality and sustainability.

The estate's vineyards cover approximately 19 hectares across various slopes, at elevations between 300 and 410 meters above sea level. Differences in exposure, microclimate, and soil—ranging from clay to sandstone, with Galestro outcrops in select areas—shape distinct expressions of terroir.

Wines are produced from individual vineyards and carefully divided into single parcels. This parcel-by-parcel approach is preserved throughout vinification and ageing, allowing each wine to faithfully express the unique character of its origin.
